My name is Kim Jaehoon.

I guess I'm what you would call a model student.

And although I'm not the best when it comes to human relationships,

I do have a couple of people I'm friendly with even while focusing on my studies.

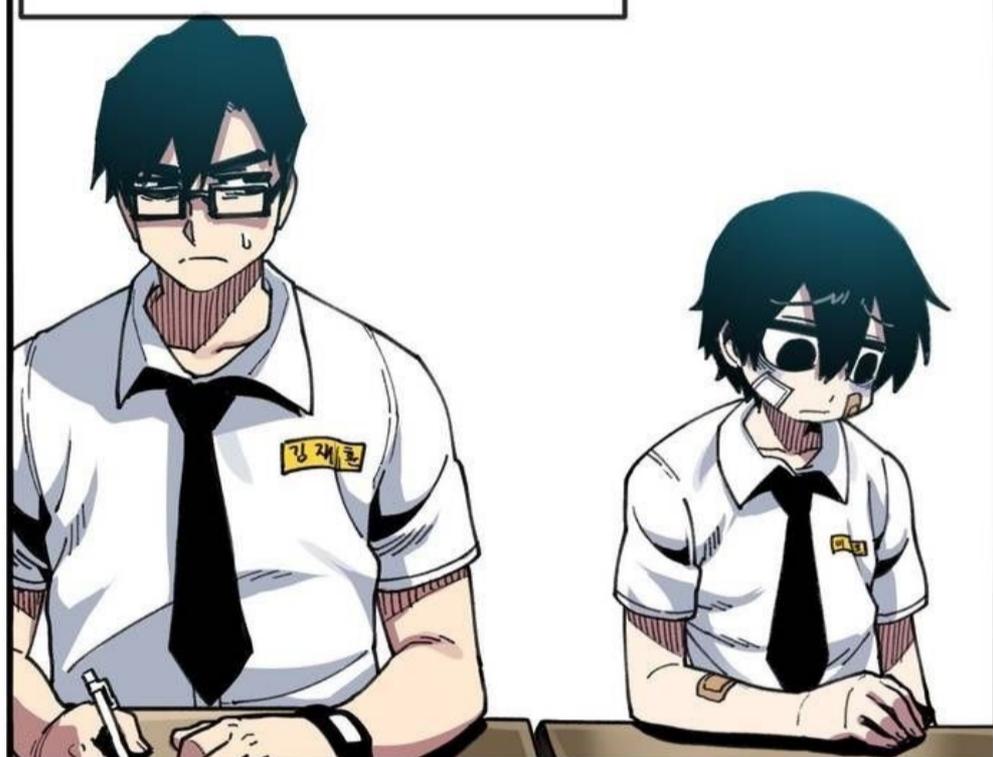

All in all, I'm quite satisfied with my life thus far.

But now...

하루

This guy is taking up all of my attention.

And not in a good way.

I think his name was Lee Hoon.

He's supposed to be our official class loser.

Normally I couldn't care
what happens to him,

but after that incident...

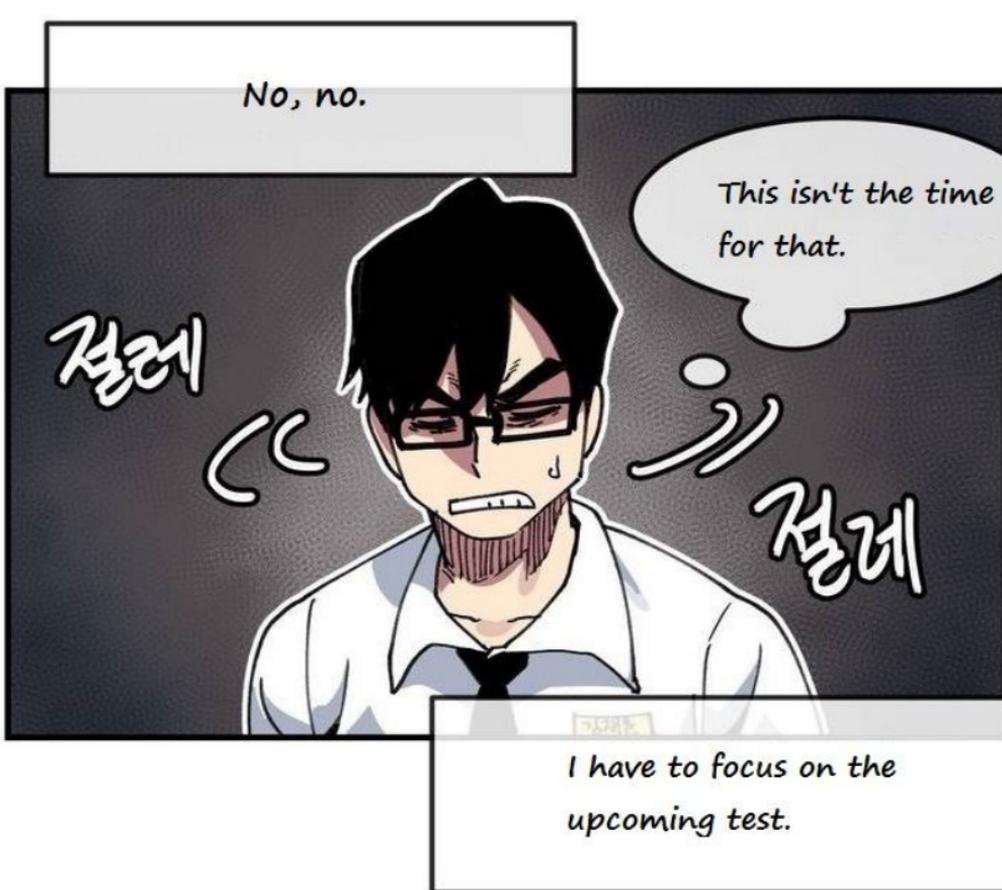

Fuuuuck....

Why did I have to see that...

How can anyone ignore him after seeing something like that...

No, no.

This isn't the time for that.

I have to focus on the upcoming test.

I just need to ignore him like I've alwa-

HOOONN~

-NNNII!!!

바바

야!

Again?!

I need you to lend me your PE uniform right now, got it?

Well y-you see...

Just ignore it Jaehoon.

Just focus on studying...

If x is root of 3,

input x into...

Seongchan d-didn't return it so I don't even have-

WHAT?!

Just... Focus...

I thought I fuckin told you to bring it today!

아악

S-sorry...

.....

Hey, Taehyun.
I'll ask our PE teacher if we can have a self study class today.

Besides, tests are coming up soon. I bet he won't refuse.

Dude, thanks!

Looks like Jaehooni saved your faggot ass today.

Y-yeah...

Even if I were so inclined to,

there's no guarantee that those bullies will leave me alone.

But I can't just ignore what I just saw either...

...damn.

Well... even if I can't help him directly,

푸욱

I won't just sit here and ignore him completely!

What a bother...

Huh?

There's no blade...

Did I use it all already?

I swear it had some left last time...

The next day.

Again?!

I just put a new one in yesterday!

So someone is stealing my stuff again...

휴이...

Relieved.

Misunderstandings kept stacking up between them.

Ah, I'm so depressed.

Sometimes there are days when I get depressed just for no reason.

Today must be one of those days.

Normally, I'd feel a bit better after cutting myself.

But on days like this, it just isn't enough.

What do normal people even do during times like this?

I bet they go out with friends and play video games or something.

Friends...? Pheh...

I don't even have a pc to play games with...

And I can't afford to go to a pc cafe either...

All I have is...

This old mobile phone.

Ah, I got it.

Only place in his room that has any wifi

Since Hooni doesn't have a router at home, he secretly uses his neighbor's.

Isn't there anything fun to do?

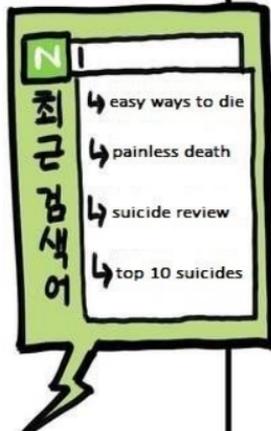

후련

It's not like I can run any games with this crappy phone, and web surfing...?

탁 탁

Yeah no...

This makes me feel even worse...

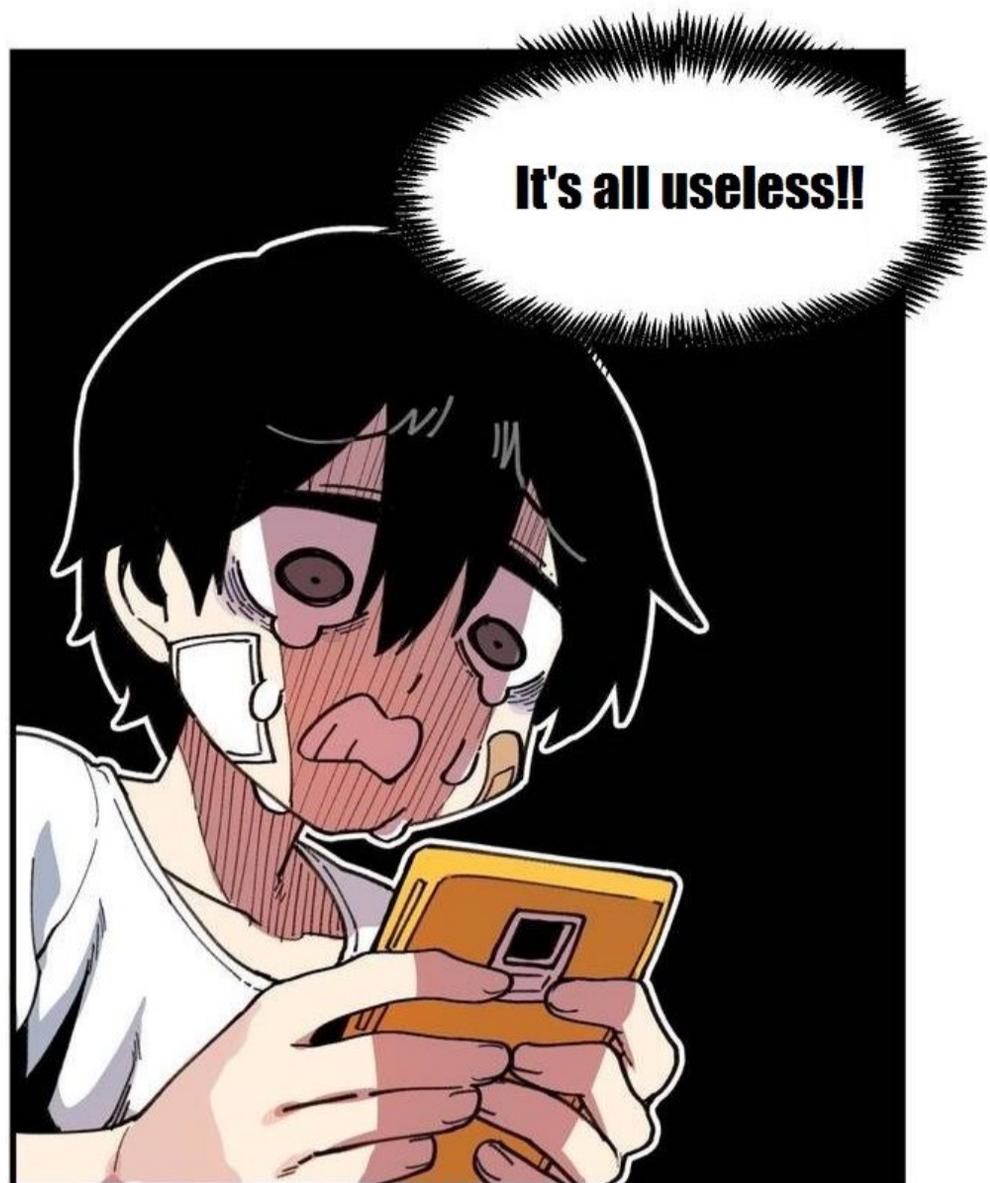

So my crappy phone can't run any games,

no friends to contact,

아득 킁킁...

and web browsing is too depressing...

Hooni is becoming even more suicidal than before.

In truth, Hooni has a site he always visits whenever he's online.

On a certain board of an anonymous site called #chan, there is a place where people like Hooni can gather to talk.

<This cut was originally about dcinside, the korean equivalent of chans and redds etc. I changed it here so it'll feel more familiar to western audiences. You can read the original cut at the bottom of the chapter. ^^>

Here, Hooni can connect with all the people in the world living horrible lives just like him.

And in doing so, he is able to maintain his sanity just enough not to go crazy.

Feeling a sense of unity when among people in a similar situation is a completely normal thing, but while it's true there are lots of people like him on the internet...

The stories and information posted here are-

-artistic works of fiction and falsehood.

Only a fool would take anything posted here as fact.
